THE ARMY CANTEEN

Why, where and how it exists. Will Temperance profit by its dissolution?

By "FACTUS"

AMONG the important bills before Congress during the present session, and one which has on several other occasions made its appearance in this body, is the "Hull Bill," known more familiarly as the army reorganization bill.

This proposed legislation has been notably unsuccessful upon each advent, being invariably talked to death in the Senate and House, as a result generally of antagonism by the several branches of the service, fearing that perhaps one corps might profit to a greater extent or to the detriment of the others.

The actual necessities of legislation have, however, at this time, served to place this bill in a more favorable light among the legislators and many of its former adversaries have become its staunchest supporters. In fact it will only be a short time until the features of the bill will be upon the statutes and in full force as law.

The provisions of the new requirements, both as to the staff and the general service, will be of vast importance to the army and of no less interest to our people at large, to whom the army is a diligent servant. The result of this will be the placing of our regular army upon a plane of usefulness and efficiency which was at least difficult under less advantageous circumstances.

There has been but little united effort against the bill, but several amendments to it have caused a few storm clouds, notably the amendment which provides for the elimination of the post canteen, and this feature has probably attracted more attention than others owing to the fact that the Women's Christian Temperance Union appeared before Congress to champion it.

It is indeed unfortunate that the Union has taken the position of dictator in this instance, for with those acquainted with the adminisration of canteen affairs it is apparent that they are laboring under wrong ideas or else working under ill advised leaders. It is also to be regreted that the members have not more thoroughly inquired into the actual condition of affairs.

Those who have argued in favor of the canteen seem to have the support of a very large majority of the army Chaplains and the general staff and line officers are almost unanimous in upholding it, and Archbishop Ireland, who lives near the Fort Snelling Canteen, has gone so far as to say its discontinuance would be a great mistake, but notwithstanding the opinions of these people, it seems the members of the Union have brought many members of the Senate and House to think differently.

Many of these same members, however, while they had given notice that they would support the amendment did not hesitate to say that they had grave doubts as to its expediency. Congressman Grosvenor, of Ohio, calls it an undesirable change which will work harm rather than good.

At all events we shall see presently who were the better acquainted with the true state of affairs and if the morals of the American soldier is to improve under the new conditions or are to go back where they were twelve years ago and earlier, just previous to the enactment of the present canteen regulations.

The canteen in a modern garrison is usually located near the officers quarters and soldiers barracks, and within a short distance of all whose residence is within the military reservation, and besides being a place where those who wish may procure beer, light wines and non-alcoholic beverages of all kinds, is also the location of the Post Office, general store, barber shop, lunch room, library, reading room, amusement and game rooms.

As the floor plans of the Fort Snelling canteen will show, these buildings are usually quite substantial and extensive, and since it does not differ in essential points it may be taken as a typical example of these buildings situated in other localities.

The present canteen system is the successor to the post traders and sutlers stores, and has been in operation since Congress, in 1888, enacted laws for its government. It has always been considered a great improvement over previous systems and has been one of the leading factors in improving the moral standing of the men in the army.

The legislative statutes, part of which compose the army regulation and under which the canteen is conducted, provide for the appointment, by the post commander, of three officers of the garrison, who are constituted a Board of Administration, and these appoint a junior officer under them who assumes the responsibility of financing and managing the institution.

Almost any article a soldier may wish to purchase in the line of food, clothing or household goods may be obtained in the store, and any articles not in stock can always be procured on short notice. Bicycles, sporting goods and articles of a like nature not usually sold in stores of even greater pretensions can readily be secured.

At the end of each month's business the canteen Board audits the books and all profits, after deducting actual running expenses, are divided equally among the several units of the command, including the hospital. This institution is greatly aided in this way by thus being able to supply many luxuries to the sick which would otherwise be difficult to obtain.

The monthly dividends of each company will average fifty dollars, and this amount is placed by the canteen officer, with the company commanders, who add it to a company fund for the procuring of additional rations and barrack furnishings. Were it not for the saving of companies from this source and the profits which come in from working the company gardens, the limited travel and field rations would not be as adequate as they can be made under the circumstances.

Purchases in the canteen are usually made in cash, but most of the officers families have accounts. For the benefit of the men of the command the canteen officer issues canteen checks in the middle of the month, or between paymasters visits, and these are received in payment of purchases. Upon receiving these checks the soldier signs a receipt and guarantees to make payment with a portion of his next salary.

Checks to the amount of one-fifth of the current month's salary is the maximum limit allowed to be drawn, and they may be expended in store, lunch room, barber shop and bar, all other features in connection with the canteen being entirely free to members of the garrison.

An excellent library of 2,500 volumes and a reading room well supplied with current literature, together with an amusement room, where billiards and other games may be played, are valuable features of the canteen, and they have been the result of contentment in the army becoming more common than was the case in years gone by. These rooms are generally looked after by two of the older members of the command, and they are excused from some of their duties in return.

As to the merits and demerits of canteen administration the majority of sentiment among those of experience and those familiar with army methods seem to be very largely in favor of its continuance, and notwithstanding arguments to the contrary, it is a well authenticated fact that the liquor habit is less indulged in by United States troops in garrison than is the case in an ordinary American town of equal size.

The regular guard has direct charge of all police regulations and conditions requiring their assistance are always at hand, but of the comparatively small number of arrests made on account of intemperance fully four-fifths can be traced to liquor procured in adjoining cities and towns or just outside the military reservation.

One of the strongest arguments in favor of the canteen has been the opportunity it has afforded the men to satisfy a permissible drink and then to spend their spare hours in the library and reading room, or in the amusement and game rooms, without his obtaining an unconquerable desire to go on an extended indiscretion and probably imbibe more liquor than he would otherwise do in a month's time and do him infinitely more harm.

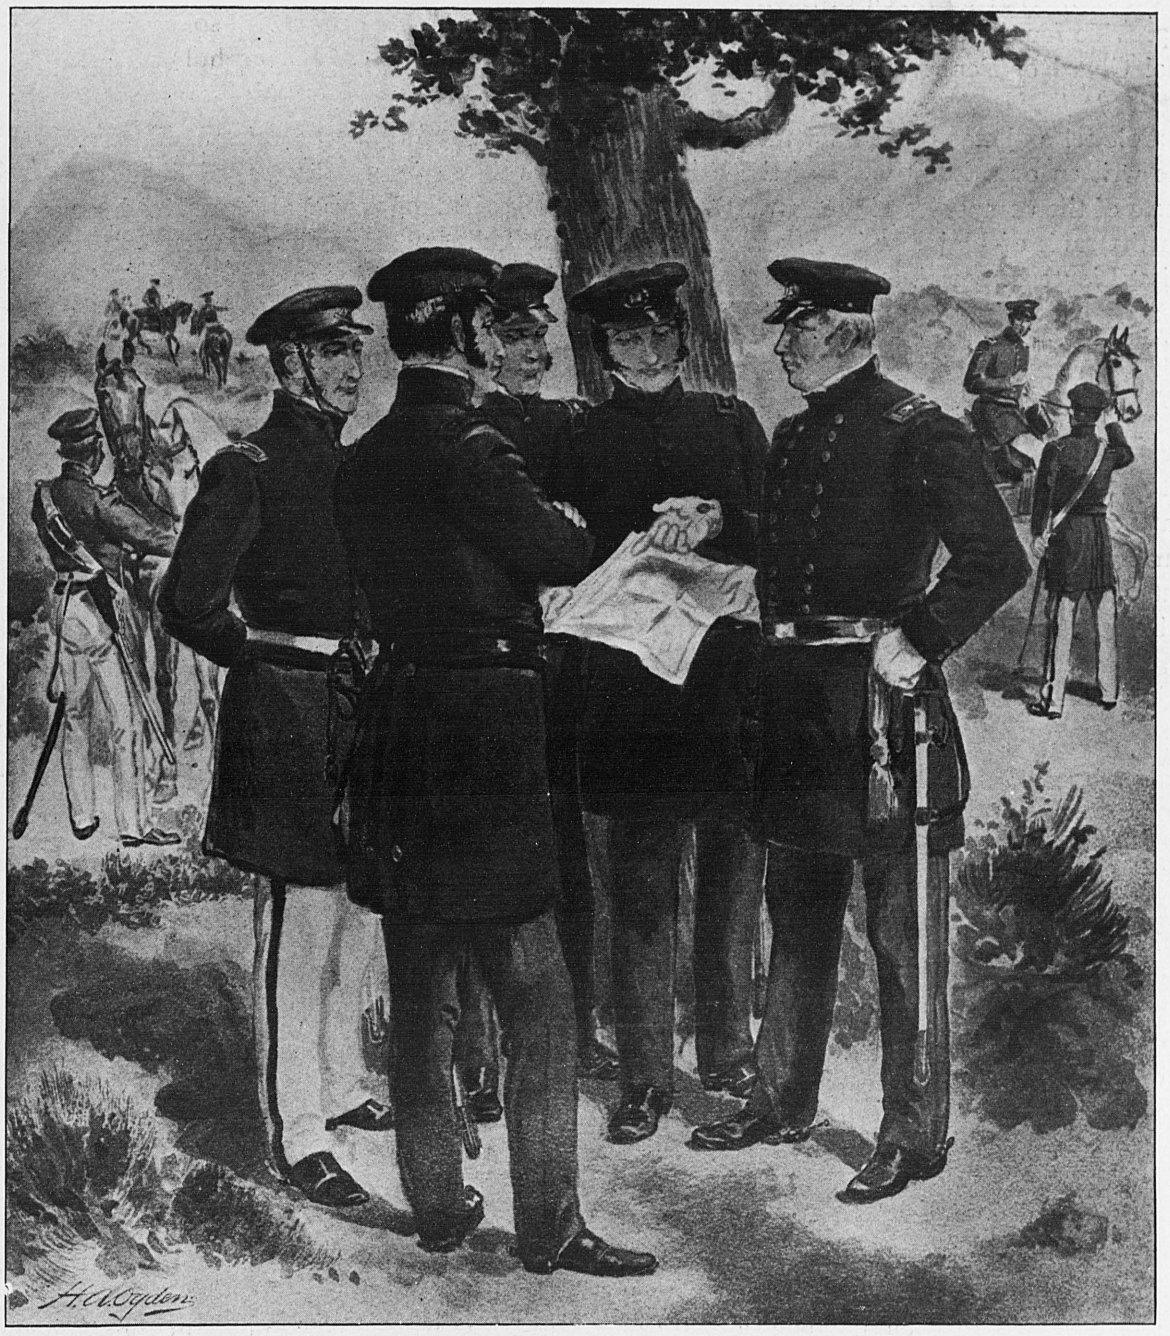
THE MILES CAP.



MAJOR GENERAL, STAFF AND LINE OFFICERS (Undressed). 1841-50.

The "Miles cap," which has been so much talked about and in many quarters condemned as a Russian design, is nothing more than an improved pattern over that worn by the United States Army in 1841-50, which the above illustration will show. It is far superior to the present regulation headgear, and has been adopted by the regular service.

There is no doubt but what Pennsylvania will take up this important question in the near future. Experience had at the last encampment, in endeavoring to pack the present cap in the knapsack, is the best evidence of a needed reform.

The old forage cap was by far the most serviceable headgear. It could be packed away in a small space and always retained its natty shape.

The Governor's Troop, commanded by Captain Frederick M. Ott, held its annual military ball at their Armory on February 5th. Many out-of-town officers attended and the affair was thoroughly enjoyable. The Commonwealth Orchestra furnished the music and Joseph Y. Kirk was the figure caller. The invitation, which was a yellow folder indicative of the Cavalry arm, was quite unique, and we regret exceedingly that space will not permit its reproduction at this time.

The dress uniform of the Second Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, was made by Jacob Reed's Sons.

Brigadier General J. P. S. Gobin is on a still hunt for a first-class Assistant Adjutant General. Aspirants should be located in either Lebanon or Reading. Here is a good chance for a military enthusiast.

THE HULINGS' BILL

An Act supplementary to and amendatory of an Act entitled "An Act to provide for the organization, discipline and regulation of the National Guard of Pennsylvania," approved April 28, 1899.

Section 1. Be it enacted, etc., That so much of Section 4 of an Act entitled "An Act to provide for the organization, discipline and regulation of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, approved April 28, 1899, which reads as follows: "Of each Regiment of Infantry, one Colonel, one Lieutenant Colonel and not more than three Majors, each to be elected by the written or printed votes of the majority of the commissioned officers of the companies of the respective regiments; one Surgeon with the rank of Major and two assistant surgeons, with the rank of First Lieutenant, each to be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief and assigned to duty from the Medical Department; one Chaplain with the rank of Captain, one Adjutant (an extra Captain), one Regimental Quartermaster (an extra Captain), one Regimental Commissary (an extra First Lieutenant), one Regimental Inspector of Rifle Practice (an extra First Lieutenant), three Battalion Adjutants (extra First Lieutenant), each to be appointed by the Colonel, subject to the approval of the Brigade Commander; one Sergeant Major, one Quartermaster Sergeant, one Commissary Sergeant, one Color Sergeant, not more than three Hospital Stewards, one Chief Musician, and three Battalion Sergeant Majors, each to be appointed by the Colonel, be amended to read as follows:

Of each regiment of infantry, one Colonel, one Lieutenant Colonel, one Major for each Battalion of said regiment, each to be elected by the written or printed votes of a majority of the commissioned officers of the companies of the respective regiments; one Surgeon with the rank of Major, and two assistant Surgeons with the rank of First Lieutenant; each to be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief, and assigned to duty from the Medical Department; one Chaplain with the rank of Captain; one Adjutant (an extra Captain), one Regimental Quartermaster (an extra Captain), one Regimental Commissary (an extra First Lieutenant), one Regimental Inspector of Rifle Practice (an extra First Lieutenant) threeBattalion Adjutants (extra First Lieutenants), each to be appointed by the Colonel, subject to the approval of the Brigade Commander, and one Sergeant Major, one Quartermaster Sergeant, one Commissary Sergeant, one Color Sergeant, one Chief Musician, not more than three Hospital Stewards, and three Battalion Sergeant Majors, each to be appointed by the Colonel, and a band as herein prescribed.

Sect. 2. That Section 49 of said Act, which reads as follows: "There shall be enlisted and attached to each Brigade, a military band of not less than twenty nor more than thirty-five musicians, who shall be entitled to receive from the State, subject to the provisions of Section 34, an annual allowance, and an amount for armory rent equal to the amount given to a company of infantry, to be paid by warrant drawn in favor of the Brigade Quartermaster. The leader of said band shall be entitled to the rank, pay and allowance, of a First Lieutenant, and shall furnish bond in form to be prescribed by the Adjutant General and to be approved by the State Military Board in the sum of one thousand dollars for the safe keeping and proper return when required by the Adjutant General of all State property in his possession. The said band shall be subject to the orders of the Brigade Commander, who may discharge and recruit said band at his discretion. The duties of the Brigade Band shall be to furnish music for the troops at the encampments required by law, and upon such other military occasions as the Brigade Commander may direct," be amended to read as follows: "There shall be enlisted and attached to each Brigade a military band of not less than twenty nor more than thirty-five musicians, and to each regiment a military band of not less than sixteen nor more than twenty-four musicians, and said bands shall be entitled to receive from the State subject to the provisions of Section 34, an annual allowance and an amount for armory rent as follows: For a Brigade Band, an annual allowance and an amount for armory rent equal to the amount given to a company of infantry, to be paid by warrant drawn in favor of the Brigade Quartermaster, the leader of said Brigade Band shall be entitled to rank, pay and allowance of a First Lieutenant and shall furnish bonds in form to be prescribed by the Adjutant General and to be approved by the State Military Board in the sum of one thousand dollars, for the safe keeping and proper return when required by the Adjutant General of all State property in his possession; for a regimental band, an annual allowance of two hundred and fifty dollars, and an amount for armory rent of one hundred and fifty dollars, to be paid by warrant drawn in favor of the Regimental Quartermaster. The leader of said band shall be the Chief Musician, who shall furnish bond in form to be prescribed by the Adjutant General, to be approved by the said Military Board, in the sum of one thousand dollars for the safe keeping and proper return when required by the Adjutant General of all State property in his possession.

Brigade and Regimental bands shall be subject to the orders of the respective Brigade and Regimental Commanders, who may discharge and recruit said bands respectively at their discretion. The duties of said bands shall be to furnish music for the troops at the encampments required by law and upon such other military occasions as their respective commanders may direct."

Sect. 3. That Section 40, which reads as follows: "When the National Guard shall be in actual service, its commissioned officers shall be paid the same as the officers of like grade in the regular army of the United States; non-commissioned staff officers and first sergeants, three dollars per day; sergeants, two dollars per day; corporals, one dollar and seventy-five cents per day; privates, one dollar and fifty cents per day, and musicians in the Brigade Band, excepting the leader, two dollars per day, and each enlisted man excepting musicians in the Brigade Band, after having served a full term of enlistment, shall be entitled to the additional pay of twenty-five cents per day for his second and third terms of consecutive enlistment, and the said payments shall be made on the pay rolls, prepared in such form as the adjutant general shall direct, upon warrants drawn by the Governor direct upon the Treasurer of the Commonwealth, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated; and the necessary subsistence and quartermaster stores, and transportation for the troops, in actual service, may be contracted for by the proper department officers by direction of the Commander-in-Chief and paid for in like manner," be amended to read as follows: "When the National Guard shall be in actual service its commissioned officers shall be paid the same as the officers of like grade in the regular army of the United States; non-commissioned staff officers and first sergeants, three dollars per day, sergeants, two dollars per day; corporals, one dollar and seventy-five cents per day; privates, one dollar and fifty cents per day, and musicians in the brigade and regimental bands, excepting the leaders, two dollars per day, and each enlisted man except musicians in the brigade and regimental bands, after having served a full term of enlistment, shall be entitled to the additional pay of twenty-five cents per day for his second and third terms of consecutive enlistment, and the said payments shall be made on the pay rolls, prepared in such form as the Adjutant General shall direct, upon warrants drawn by the Governor direct upon the Treasurer of the Commonwealth, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and the necessary subsistence and quartermaster stores, and transportation for the troops in actual service may be contracted for by the proper department officers by direction of the Commander-in-Chief and paid for in like manner.

Sect. 4. There shall be enlisted and attached to the Medical Department of each regiment not more than twelve enlisted men at least two of whom shall be qualified as Pharmacists and two as cooks, and who shall be drilled and instructed as a Hospital and Ambulance Corps and be under the charge and direction of the Regimental Surgeon. The hospital stewards shall have the rank and pay of a first sergeant, and the other members of the corps shall have the pay of privates. They shall be entitled to and upon the requisition of the Regimental Surgeon shall receive the uniform and equipments prescribed for the Hospital Corps, and shall be carried upon a roll to be kept by the Regimental Surgeon, who shall also give bond in the sum of $500 for the safe keeping and proper return to the Adjutant General of all State property issued to him for said corps.

SECT. 5. That immediately upon the passage of this Act it shall be the duty of the Adjutant General to employ competent architects to prepare plans and specifications for armories of plain and substantial character, suitable for the accommodation of a company of infantry. Said armories shall be of three classes. The first class shall be those that can be constructed upon an average cost (exclusive of site) for $10,000. The second class shall be those which can be constructed at an average cost of $15,000 (exclusive of site), and the third class shall be those that can be constructed at an average cost (exclusive of site) for $25,000. And the sum of $1,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be paid for said plans and specifications when the same shall have been accepted by the Adjutant General and approved by the Commander-in-Chief, and the Adjutant General is hereby authorized to draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer for the cost of said plan and specifications, not to exceed the sum of $1,000, which the State Treasurer is hereby required to pay out of any funds in his hands not otherwise appropriated, and copies of said plans and specifications shall be kept in the Adjutant General's office open to public inspection. Whenever any company,

THE citizens of Erie are so indifferent to the welfare of Company "G" of the 16th Infantry, formerly Company "A" of the 15th, that it would not be surprising if the Company was recommended for disbandment after the spring inspection.

A VERY good suggestion was made by a prominent field officer in the First Brigade, that the Brigade Inspectors should take command of the Company to be inspected, putting it through the schedule drill and thereby judge for themselves the efficiency of the organization.

THE organizations who took part in the late Shenandoah campaign feel much encouraged that their connection with the National Guard and the services rendered during that tour of duty, has been thoroughly appreciated by the business public, which has been evidenced from the fact that not a single man of the 4th and 8th Regiments lost his position.

THE Editor of "Our State Army and Navy" Journal has frequently been approached by officers and ex-officers of the Guard who desire to exchange or sell equipments. Many of these articles are as good as new and could be purchased or exchanged profitably. Hereafter, the Journal will be glad to have such persons communicate, and wants and exchanges will be inserted free of charge.

SEVERAL of the Philadelphia papers have persisted in making the statement that the First Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, under command of Captain John C. Groome, attended the Old Guard Ball in New York, January 24th, in full dress uniform. This is not the case, however. Some of the Troop members may have been there in evening dress, but the writer knows from personal observation that the only organizations represented from Pennsylvania were the 1st, 3d and 6th Regiments. The officers from these commands were combined and acted as Staff for the senior field officer present, Colonel Coryell of the 6th Infantry.

THERE is a vigorous kick going on at the present time with some of the hall owners of Philadelphia and towns in which armories are located which are rented out for amusement purposes. Several of the owners have brought the matter to the attention of the tax authorities and insist upon the practice being stopped. As they claim, the renting of the armories for such purpose is injurious to their business, for which they are abliged to pay taxes, and the regimental organizations are exempt. This is simply another demonstration of the life and death struggle the regiments are obliged to go through to maintain their structures. The armory question is becoming a very serious matter, and it is earnestly hoped that the State Legislature will "loosen up" and properly house the finest citizen soldiery in the United States.

THE Annual Ball of the Old Guard of New York is now acknowledged to be the greatest of its kind held in the United States, and is participated in by many officers from the regular Army, United States Marine Corps and the National Guard of the various States.

It is estimated that nearly ten thousand persons attended this year's function. There were no charges for the cards of admission as in former years, the practice having been abused by ticket scalpers. A general charge of $1.00 therefore was made for wardrobe privileges, and this proved more profitable than the sale of tickets at $5.00 each.

The Old Guard is purely a social military institution, an applicant being required to show an honorable discharge from the service of any State. The membership of the Guard is composed of many ex-officers of the several States, and some of the leading business men of New York City are identified with its roster.

Their new Armory, which is located at the corner of 49th and Broadway, is well adapted for an organization of its kind, the drill room occupying about 100 square feet. The headquarters and administration rooms are located on the north and south side of the building, which makes it a very complete affair. The furnishings are of a substantial character, and the facilities afforded the members are that of a first-class club in every respect. A corps of this kind practically takes the place of an officer's club, and is an incentive for military men to keep together after a long and active service.

This spirit should be fostered in all our large cities.

Personal Mention

Major William S. Millar, 3d Brigade Inspector, is acting as Assistant Adjutant General in connection with his other duties.

It is stated that Captains Archbald and Shannon are candidates for the "oak leaf" in the 4th Regiment when the next vacancy occurs.

Captain A. D. Burns of the 16th Infantry, will shortly wear the gold oak leaf in his command.

Lieutenant Commander, Frederick Poole, of the Chinese Naval Reserves, had a severe attack of grippe, lasting several weeks.

Captain Charles H. Speckman, Second Infantry, has resigned the position of Regimental Quartermaster. Captain Theodore Steinbach will be appointed to succeed Captain Speckman.

Captain Leon Dagit and other officers of the 6th Regiment feel that the Sixth-Regiment-Fencible controversy should be adjusted as neither organization will prosper under the existing circumstances.

There are no vacancies now in the 18th Regiment either in the staff or line, except one non-commissioned staff officer, which vacancy will shortly be filled.

Much interest has been manifest among the rank and file as to the trip to Washington. Now that the jaunt is a settled fact, companies are showing an increased attendance at drills and schools.

The only serious case of sickness reported as the result of the Shenandoah campaign, is that of Private H. G. Dietzler, Company "H," 4th Infantry, whose health seems to be entirely shattered through cold contracted in the coal fields.

Dr. Max Goldberg, formerly Lieutenant of the 19th Infantry, has greatly improved his office at the southwest corner of 12th and Chestnut streets, where his many friends will find his manicuring establishment strictly up-to-date.

Lieutenant Percy A. Bellas, Battalion Adjutant, 3d Infantry, is conducting a school for non-commissioned officers. He is thoroughly interested in the work and good results should reward his energy.

Company "H" of the 8th Regiment, commanded by Captain John Owens, just ended a very successful fair, the proceeds of which will be used to subsist the men during their stay in Washington, D. C., March 4th.

A very pleasant birthday dinner was given by Captain Thomas Allen Glenn on January 26th, at Harrisburg, in honor of General J. P. S. Gobin. All the members of the Staff were present and several after-dinner speeches were made.

At a recent meeting of the First Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, a suggestion was made that a mess jacket be adopted similar to that worn in the English Army. The pattern very much resembles the Eton garment.

Company "B," 9th Infantry, Wilkes-Barre, has organized three strong basket ball teams, and games have been arranged with Wyoming Seminary, the Carlisle Indians and other strong teams. They are open for challenges from other teams in the Guard.

Captain Lester H. Simons, formerly Second Lieutenant, Company "C" of the 16th Infantry, now serving in the regular establishment in Manila, will shortly return to the United States, and the members of his old Regiment hope to have him back as a Company commander.

The many letters received from officers throughout the State, acknowledging receipt of the History of the 18th Regiment, are indicative of one thing above all others, that harmony and good will do exist among all officers towards one another, and towards each other's command.

Captain Archbald, of the Fourth Infantry, in speaking of the "Journal," says that it should be patronized by not only the members of the National Guard, but the corporate and vested interest of the State, who have every reason for wishing the Guard maintained in the highest condition as regards efficiency and reliability, and the "Journal" stands for all that would bring this about.

Major John H. Rust, Commander of the Second Battalion of the 18th Regiment (the Battalion that received the highest general average at last summer's inspection), will likely be one of Pennsylvania's quota of officers in the regular army as provided for, under the army bill just passed. He is one of the most efficient officers in the division.

The new National Guard bill framed by Colonel Willis J. Hulings of the 16th, finds many active supporters in this part of the State. The Third Major is now an urgent necessity. The Colonel needs just such assistance as could be rendered by the Lieutenant Colonel, were he not required to command the Battalion. The work at regimental headquarters is more than proportionately increased by the additional battalion.

The Annual "Harmony Dinner" of the Field and Staff and Line Officers of the 9th Regiment was held at the Westmoreland Club, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on the evening of January 29th, and was attended by nearly all of the officers of the Regiment. The occasion was most enjoyable and the name "Harmony Dinner" seemed most appropriate. Captain E. N. Carpenter, ex-Quartermaster of the Ninth, who has recently returned from an extended trip to Cape Nome and the Klondike, was the guest of honor.

Captain Evan R. Williams, Company "E," 9th Regiment Infantry, Parsons, Pa., has resigned owing to press of business, and an election to fill the vacancy has been ordered. Captain Williams took command of Company "E," 9th Infantry, Pennsylvania Volunteers, at Chicamauga Park, Ga., in the summer of 1898, upon the death of Captain D. L. Miers, and was unanimously elected to the command of the company upon the reorganization. He has seen many years service in the Guard and will be missed.

The promenade, concert and ball of the Duquesne Greys, 18th Regiment, N. G. P., still continues to be a topic of conversation among not only the men of the organization, but the public as well. The affair, which was held at the Schenley, New Year's Day, was attended by Major General Chas. Miller, Adjutant General Thos. J. Stewart, Brigadier General John A. Wiley, and many members of the Staff of the Governor, Major General and Brigadier General. There were about three hundred couple of the very best society people of Western Pennsylvania.

The history of the 18th Regiment, which has just been issued, gives a very complete outline of the work done by this, the oldest military organization in the State. From its very start, it has been active in all military affairs, both State and National. It is probably the only military organization in the United States that took part as a body, in every battle in the Mexican War. These books have been sent throughout the State, being the purpose to have a copy to reach all general, field and staff officers and each company in the N. G. P.

Private Peter Kelly, of Company "G," 3d Regiment, who was detailed as the ambulance driver and served in that position over twenty years, died on Sunday, January 27th.

"Pete" Kelly, as he was commonly called, prided himself on being called the oldest man in continuous active service in the State force. Last spring when the long service medal was awarded to Private Elwell of the 2d Infantry, Kelly was heard to remark on several occasions that his turn came next. He particularly requested the Editor of "Our State Army and Navy" Journal to give this matter mention at the proper time.

We regret the death of Kelly very much. The Regiment has lost a good and faithful soldier, he having served in every call, including the Spanish-American campaign.

The indoor athletic meet of Company "D," First Regiment, will take place March 16th. The committee on arrangements are actively at work, comprising Captain Osborn, 1st Sergeant Sloan, Corporal Poulterer and Private Puncheon.

The affair will be managed by the well-known University athlete, Mr. George Orton. The following is the list of events: Amateur—45 yard dash, 45 yard hurdle, 1 mile run, shot put, high jump. N. G. P.—45 yard dash, hop, step and jump, 1 mile relay (open to all regiments). Interscholastic—440 yard run, 880 yard run (mile relay). Brigade—1 mile relay (open to all organizations of the Brigade). All events will be handicap and under A. A. U. rules. Entries close March 9th. For entry blanks and all information address Captain John Osborn, 1110 Walnut street.

The admission to the entertainment will be 50 cents. The proceeds are intended to secure an athletic ground in the suburbs. This will become the exclusive property of Company "D."

The prospects of the possibility of the Third Major has caused some little excitement in local military circles. In the 18th many officers are vying with each other as to their respective merits to wear the "gold leaf." However, when it comes to an order for an election, it is safe to predict that there will be but two candidates, namely, Captain Fred. W. Eggers, Adjutant of the Regiment, and Captain James E. McNary of Company "K." Captain Eggers, in point of actual service, is the sixth senior officer in the regiment, ranking next to Majors Rust and Wiley. Captain McNary ranks thirtieth in point of actual service, but is the senior captain in the line in the regiment, being one of the civilians elected during the organization of the Provisional Regiment, the 17th Regiment, during the Spanish-American War. The 17th being afterwards assigned to the 18th, and by reason of many changes, subsequent to reorganization, finds Captain McNary the senior Captain. Captain Eggers' record of almost thirteen years active service, including duty at riots in the coke regions, Homestead, and in the Spanish-American War, will likely stand him in good stead of senior Captaincy. Both candidates are the very best of friends, and the contest is not only interesting but pleasant, as such contests all should be.

troop or battery commander shall certify to the Adjutant General that he is prepared to erect an armory for his command according to the plans and specifications of one of the three approved classes, and shall give a bond in the sum of $20,000, with sufficient sureties approved by a judge of a Court of Common Pleas for the County in which said armory is to be erected, conditioned that he will procure a suitable site and erect thereon an armory of the specified class and convey the same to the Commonwealth in fee simple, free of incumbrance, and file the same with the Adjutant General, thereupon the Adjutant General shall examine said site, and if he shall approve the same he shall notify said company, troop or battery commander that he may proceed with the work, and when said armory shall have been erected according to the plans and specifications of any one of the three classes above provided for and conveyed in fee simple free of incumbrance to the Commonwealth, the Adjutant General shall draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer in the sum of $10,000 for so much thereof as may be necessary to cover the actual cost of said armory in favor of said company, troop or battery commander, and the State Treasurer is hereby required to pay the same out of any funds in his hands not otherwise appropriated.

Where two or more companies are located in the same city or locality and the Captains thereof, or a Battalion or Regimental Commander shall procure a suitable site which shall be approved by the Adjutant General, and shall give bond with sufficient sureties in double the sum sought to be obtained from the State, approved by a Judge of a Court of Common Pleas for the county in which the armory is to be erected, conditioned that he will convey said site in fee simple free of incumbrance to the State and erect thereon an armory for the said two or more companies according to plans and specifications approved by the Adjutant General, the Adjutant General shall direct them or him to proceed, and when said armory shall have been erected according to the plans and specifications prescribed and the site and buildings conveyed to the State in fee simple free of incumbrance, the Adjutant General shall draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer for the sum of $10,000 for each company housed in said armory, in favor of such company, battalion or regimental commander, and the State Treasurer shall pay the same out of any money in his hands not otherwise appropriated.

Provided, that in the plans of the several classes for single companies changes may be made to accommodate variances in locality and surroundings if the Adjutant General approve, but such as would disturb the plan of uniform armories throughout the State shall not be made. Such armories when erected shall be for the use of the organizations erecting them so long as such organizations remain in the National Guard. The company, troop and battery commanders in case of company, troop or battery armories, or the battalion commander in case of a two, three or four company armory, or the regimental commander in case of a regimental armory, shall be the custodian of said armory and shall give bond in the sum of $5,000 for a single company armory, $10,000 for a two company armory, and $20,000 for a battalion or regimental armory, for the proper care of said building. He shall be authorized to rent the same for public or other proper use when such use does not interfere with its military uses, and to make such repairs as in his judgment are necessary, he shall make annually on the 30th of June, reports of receipts and disbursements for the preceding year, with proper vouchers thereof to the Adjutant General and return to the State Treasurer any unexpended balances then in his hands.

Provided, that any existing armory built for and used by any organization or organizations of the National Guard of Pennsylvania may be conveyed to the Commonwealth on the same terms and conditions as are herein set forth as applying to armories hereafter to be constructed, upon the approval by the Adjutant General of the plan, location, character and adaptability of the armory, but so that no amount shall be paid except upon a basis that shall be equivalent to the terms upon which the State would contribute to the erection of a new armory under this Act, that is to say, the site being approved and deeded to the State free of incumbrance, the State will contribute to the purchase of said armory an amount not to exceed the sum of $10,000 for each company housed therein or such portion thereof as the property at a fair valuation, exclusive of site, is worth.

Sect. 6. All armories erected or purchased under the provisions of this Act shall be exempt from all taxes, municipal, county or State, so long as the same shall remain the property of the Commonwealth, except such taxes or assessments as may be levied for street or sewer improvements.

NOTE.

It has been the custom in most Companies for many years to appoint a camp mess committee, with the Captain usually as ex-officio Chairman, the object being to take some extra provisions in addition to what the State furnishes. These are paid for by the men who voluntarily agree to give $1.00 out of their camp pay. Thus they secure a mess which not only provides them the substantials but little luxuries which makes the soldier feel good during his tour of duty. The committee's work can be considerably lessened this year by placing their orders with E. A. Bowker & Co., 13th and Market streets, Philadelphia. This firm will take special pains in filling orders for the encampment. Their resources are so large that they are enabled to have a variety that pleases the boys. The several Captains who purchased from this firm last year speak in the highest terms of the treatment they received, not only the excellent qualities furnished, but the reasonable prices charged.

WHAT FOLLOWS CANTEEN ABOLITION.

(From the Army and Navy Journal.)

Roadhouse.—The Canteen at Fort Myer has been ordered closed by act of Congress. I have an excellent opening for a new place adjoining Fort Myer. Act at once, as this is a chance seldom offered. 'Phone 598-2.

Thus even before the new army bill has been signed and become a law its effects are becoming apparent.

THE ARMY CANTEEN.

A feast or famine of liquor is bound to prove detrimental in a United States Army garrison, and the present happy medium is certainly the best solution of the matter. There are so many places within easy reach of most military reservations that after the canteen has been done away with it will only be a question among many of the men as to which one of the places they select to spend their idle moments in, and this will be a deplorable state of affairs in its most favorable aspect.

Another matter which is often brought to public notice is the statement that many of the soldiers are compelled to serve the bar and do other things connected with the canteen, but this is not a matter of fact. On the other hand, many seek employment in the different positions, knowing an extra compensation is allowed over and above their salary, and, with the exception of bartender, these positions are given to the men.

As to service behind the bar, the writer has never seen a regularly enlisted soldier serving as such, civilians invariably being employed for this service. This is true in four cases I could name, and, perhaps, if known, in many others, as I never heard conditions to the contrary during a three years' term of service in garrison and field duty in the United States Army.

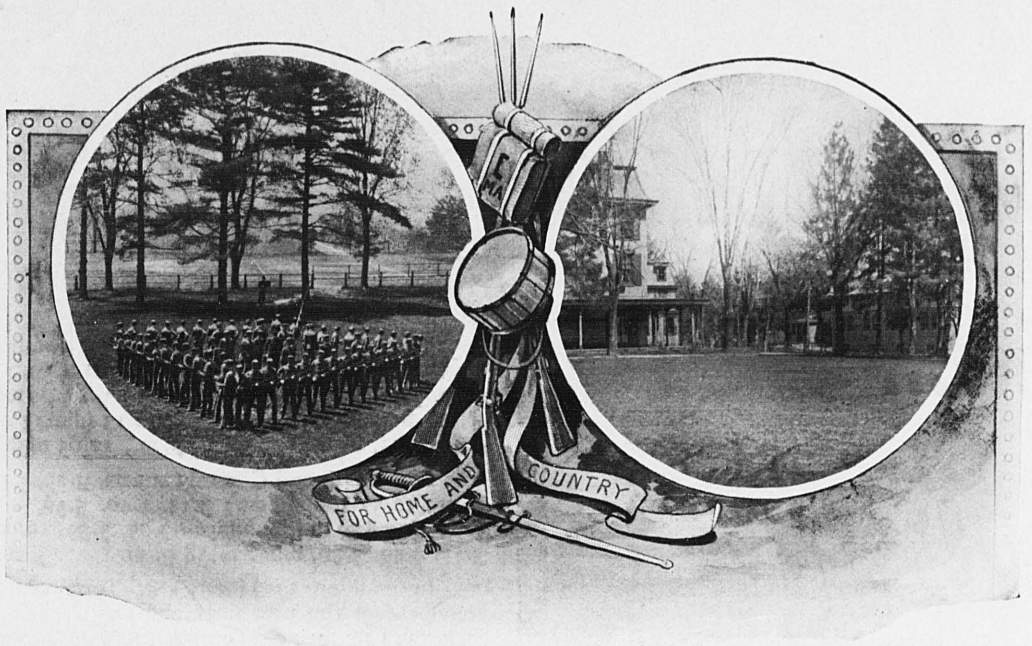
CHELTENHAM MILITARY ACADEMY

OGONTZ, PA.

(NEAR PHILADELPHIA)

"AN IDEAL SCHOOL IN AN IDEAL LOCATION"



CHELTENHAM MILITARY ACADEMY, on the summit of the Chelten Hills, near Philadelphia, has a location and environment rarely equaled for beauty and healthfulness. The School was founded twenty-eight years ago by the late Rev. Samuel Clements, D. D., and from its opening has had the best class of patronage and has met with unusual success in the training and education of young men and boys. A majority of its graduates enter leading colleges or scientific schools, and for the past six years its annual representation in such institutions has been equal to one-half the attendance of the school.

Among the features that have contributed to the success and popularity of the Academy, the following will at once commend themselves to judicious parents: 1. The attendance is limited to seventy boarding pupils, in order that the classes may not be so large as to render attention to the individual pupil inconvenient or impossible. 2. Ten resident instructors (an average of one for every seven cadets), selected for their ability and experience and for their willingness to take an interest in the welfare and happiness of the pupils. 3. An honest endeavor to train and educate the whole boy rather than to merely prepare him to pass college entrance examinations. 4. The moral tone and influence of the institution.

Parents seeking the right school for a boy are cordially invited to visit the Academy, or to communicate with the Principal. Rooms are assigned in order of application.
